Conventions – General Information

The National Hellenic Student Association of North America’s semi-annual conventions are educational, professional, and social in nature attracting approximately 200 students and about 20 mentors/speakers. By providing various workshops, we hope to educate students and participants on a variety of topics such as the economic crisis, foreign affairs, science and medicine, journalism, and the Hellenic culture and identity. Educational workshops coupled with networking events, as well as social activities provide students with the opportunity to make new friendships, develop a different perspective on a variety of topics, receive mentorship from professionals in various fields, and grow a zeal for activism.
